Active participation in the modern classroom

It's important for all children to hear well in school. In order to keep up with fast-changing learning environments, the Roger for Education portfolio offers various intuitive and easy-to-use solutions to suit every student in every lesson.

- The Roger™ Touchscreen Mic always chooses the right microphone mode based on the orientation of the device. You don't have to manually adjust anything – everything is automatically done for you!
- The Roger microphones and media transmitter feature an indicator light which is clearly visible and easily understood by both students and teachers.
- In a recent study, 100% of children preferred listening to their peers using Small Group mode during classroom activities.¹
